MEKONG FIELDS AND HEALING MANGROVES ORGANIC OILS

Ginger essential oil helps regulate body temperature as an antipyretic, reducing heat in the body. Ginger essential oil soothes the spirit, acts as an antidepressant, releases pain, relieves cold coughs, sore throats and stomach problems, and provides energy recovery and a refreshing feeling to the body through intense aroma mixed with sweetness. In particular, a fresh ginger massage with essential oils will nourish and hydrate the body.

Orange essential oil helps to calm the spirit, strengthen resistance, maintain health for the body, reduce fatigue, stimulate the senses, protect body cells from damage by freeing radicals from stress and pollution, provide relief from inflammation, relax muscular and nervous spasms, reduce anger and depression, promote urination and eliminate toxins.

Cajeput oil (also known as cajuput oil) is an essential oil commonly distilled from the white wood tree, a close relative of the tea tree. Cajeput has been used by the Vietnamese for centuries to assist the respiratory system and relax breathing, alleviate fever and body heat, and reduce aches and pains.

Basil oil comes from a herb, which is very common in Vietnam. Basil flavours are used to reduce stress, panic and feelings of depression and sadness. It also stimulates blood circulation, helping you activate energy sources for the body, improve skin tone and protect against acne.

Cinnamon is one of the most popular herbs for flavouring and medicinal use. Cinnamon is now used all over the world for the treatment of a variety of health disorders including respiratory problems, skin infections, blood impurity, menstrual problems and various heart disorders.

Cinnamon oil provides a nourishing effect, revives, disinfects, and treats heat, pain, irritation, nausea while providing body detoxification.

MEKONG DELTA

The Mekong Delta is the most extensive rice-growing area of Vietnam. When the Mekong Delta is mentioned, people usually think of it as Vietnam's rice basket. Since it is enriched with alluvial soil from one of the world's largest river systems, the Mekong Delta provides three harvests a year. In addition to rice, the area also produces coconut, sugar cane, fruit and fish.
