KE GA LIGHT HOUSE ONLY

The Iconic of this area, Ke Ga Light House is the tallest and the oldest light house in Vietnam, built in February 1897 designed by Snavat, a French Architect where the building is 35meters high. The entire elevation from the sea level to the lamp on the lighthouse is 65meters. The size of the light house's edges is 3 meters wide and 2.5meters wide of the top. The thickness of the lighthouse from the foot to the height of 6 meters is 1.6meter. The higher the light house is, the thinner it is with 1.5meter thick and thinnest position of 1 meter on the top of construction. There is large bulb of 2.000W on the tower with a radius of 22 nautical meters, or equivalent to 40km and used as a guide signal of the passing ships until today, therefore the light house is playing a very important role in ensuring maritime safety for the region and nowadays becoming one of the attractions of Binh Thuan.

The visitor should take a stroll around the island to admire the panoramic view of the island from different angles, beauty of frangipani flowers which was planted by the French from the last century, casuarina groves and the rows marble under the sunlight.
